RULES OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

I.—ORGANIZATION—ELECTIONS.

1. At the elections in the House, the voting shall be viva voce, and the vote recorded in the journal, and only one person shall be chosen at a time. If on the first voting no one receives a majority, the person having the smallest number of votes shall not be voted for on the next trial, and so on until some one shall receive a majority of the whole vote. If the election be by joint vote of the two houses, messages shall be exchanged for each voting announcing the names of persons in nomination. A committee of three from each house shall compare the votes and ascertain and report the result.

THE SPEAKER.

2. The House of Delegates shall choose its own speaker. The speaker may call any member to the chair, who shall exercise its functions for the time; but no member, by virtue of such appointment, shall preside for a longer time than three days. During such substitution the speaker may participate in the debates. If the speaker be absent, and have named no one to act in his stead, the duties shall be performed by the chairman of one of the standing committees, taking precedence in the order in which the committees are named in Rule 16.

3. The speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the House to order, and a quorum being present, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read. Any mistakes in the entries shall, upon motion, then be corrected, and being found correct, shall be signed by the speaker and the clerk, and upon the last day of the session, the journal for that day being examined and found correct, shall be signed by the speaker and the clerk, and the said journals, when so signed, shall be the authentic record of the proceedings of the House.

4. The speaker shall have power to supervise and correct the journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall, with power, in case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in such part thereof as may be appropriated to spectators, to have the same cleared. Stenographers and reporters for the press, wishing to take down the proceedings of the House, may be admitted by the speaker, who shall assign them to such places on the floor as shall not interfere with the convenience of members.

5. All acts and joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution shall be signed by the speaker; and all writs and warrants issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

THE CLERK.

6. A clerk shall be elected by the House, and shall be deemed to continue in office until another is chosen. He shall appoint an assistant clerk, an enrolling clerk, a journal clerk, a reading clerk, the janitors for the hall and offices, and shall, subject to the approval of the speaker, appoint the six committee clerks provided for by law. He shall be charged with the whole clerical business of the House and its committees, and shall see that the committee clerks discharge properly the duties required of them by the several committees to which they are assigned, and that, when not so employed, they render such assistance as may be required to other committees and in the business of the House. The several clerks and janitors may be removed by the clerk of the House, with the approval of the speaker, and the committee clerks shall be so removed upon the request of the committees to which they are severally assigned.

7. The clerk shall perform all the duties of his office under the direction of the speaker. He shall keep a journal of the proceedings of the House, and shall have the same in proper form to be signed as provided by Rule 3, and shall submit it daily to the speaker in time to be examined before the next assembling of the House. He shall keep at the clerk's table, during the sittings of the House, a calendar or docket so arranged as to show the condition and progress of the business of the House, which said calendar shall be printed each day and laid on the desk of each member at the opening of the session. He shall have printed and placed on the desk of each member, before the assembling of the House each day, a list of all bills offered on the preceding day, under Rule 37, with the names of the patrons, titles of the bills and the committees to which the same have been referred.

8. He shall keep accounts of the compensation of the members and officers of the House, and shall from time to time certify the same to the auditor. He shall provide the stationery required for the business of his office and of the House and for the use of the members during the session; but the amount furnished to each member shall not exceed in value five dollars a session. The claims shall be certified for payment as provided by law. He shall keep detailed accounts of all these transactions in a book to be provided for the purpose, which shall be at all times open to inspection by members of the House.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

9. A sergeant-at-arms shall be elected by the House, and shall continue in office during its pleasure. He shall have as his assistant two doorkeepers, who shall be elected by the House, and fourteen pages, to be appointed by the speaker, who shall receive as compensation one-half the amount provided by law for a doorkeeper.

10. He shall, with his assistants, attend upon the House during its sittings, and shall execute its commands, together with all such process, issued by its authority, as shall be directed to him by the speaker.

11. He shall, under the direction of the speaker, have charge of the police of the hall, and shall prevent any interruption of the business of the House by disorder, within or without. He shall distribute among the members all papers printed for their use, and shall give such attendance upon them during the sittings of the House as will promote their comfort and facilitate the business of the House.

12. He shall procure for the members, when required, certificates for pay and mileage, and, at their request and upon their endorsement, shall collect and pay over to those entitled the money due upon such certificates.

13. He shall attend to receiving and dispatching all mail or telegraphic matter intended for or sent by members, and shall make such arrangement therefor as to promote the convenience of the members.

20. Any committee of the House may, at their discretion, confer with a committee of the Senate having under consideration the same subject. No select committee shall be appointed to consider any subject falling properly within the province of a standing committee.

33. Upon a call of the House the names of the members shall be first called over by the clerk and the absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall be again called over; the doors shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made may, by order of those present, if ten in number, be taken in custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody, wherever to be found, by the sergeant-at-arms or his assistants, or by special messengers to be appointed for that purpose.

The same rule shall be observed with regard to the messages from the Senate.

37. Members having petitions, memorials, resolutions or bills to present may, at any time, hand them to the clerk, endorsed with their names, and the reference or disposition desired. The clerk shall, under the direction of the speaker, refer such papers to the proper committees, and enter the fact, with the names of the members presenting them, upon the journal.

40. Reports of committees may be handed to the clerk at any time. He shall endorse upon them the time at which they are received, and place them upon the speaker's table, to be disposed of in the morning hour. If, in the judgment of the speaker, any report of a committee requires immediate action, he may bring it to the attention of the House at any time.

IV.—ORDER OF BUSINESS—THE MORNING HOUR.

44. Bills and joint resolutions sent from the Senate shall be referred by the speaker to the proper committees. All other messages from the Senate shall, unless the House otherwise order, be referred by the speaker to the proper committees.

45. All bills reported from committees shall be transferred at once to the calendar in the order in which they are reported. Those reported for the first time shall be numbered in the order in which they were handed to the clerk, and transferred to the calendar.

46. All other reports from committees shall be considered and disposed of in the order in which they are reported. Those reported for the first time shall be numbered in the order in which they were handed to the clerk, and transferred to the calendar.

46. All other reports from committees shall be considered and disposed of in the order in which the speaker shall present them, unless the House shall in any case otherwise direct.

47. A member presenting a resolution under Rule 39 shall be allowed five minutes in which to explain his wishes in relation to it; after which the question on referring to a standing committee shall be taken without debate. If the House refuses to refer, the resolution shall be considered and disposed of.

48. Printing recommended by committees under Rule 24 shall be ordered by the speaker, unless the House shall otherwise direct. Under such order no more copies of any document shall be printed than is provided by law; nor shall more than two hundred and thirty copies be printed of any bill, resolution, petition or memorial without the special order of the House.

THE CALENDAR.

49. At the expiration of the morning hour, or sooner if the business of the morning hour has been disposed of, the House shall proceed to consider bills and joint resolutions upon the calendar, in the following order:

1st. House bills on their first reading.

2nd. Senate bills on their first reading.

3rd. Pending motions to reconsider, relating to business proper for the calendar.

4th. The unfinished business of the preceding day.

5th. House bills, etc., returned from the Senate with amendments, in the order in which they were transferred to the calendar.

6th. Senate bills on third reading.

7th. Engrossed House bills, etc., in the order in which they passed to their engrossment.

8th. Senate bills on their second reading.

9th. House bills, etc., on their second reading in the order in which they are numbered.

50. It shall be the duty of the clerk to see that the printing and engrossing, when ordered, shall be done in such time that the bills, etc., may be acted upon according to their priorities upon the calendar. If, however, any bill, etc., shall not be ready when it is reached upon the calendar, it shall be passed by, and be allowed to retain its place upon the calendar.

51. When the calendar has been called through, it may be called again in order to dispose of any business that may be ready, and if there be none such the business of the morning hour shall be resumed and disposed of; but the business of the calendar shall in no case be allowed to interfere with that of the morning hour without the unanimous consent of the members present.

52. The regular order of business herein established shall not be changed, nor shall any special order be made, except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present; but a majority may postpone the calendar, not exceeding one day at a time, or may pass by any subject coming up in order, without changing its place, or may agree to a joint order with the Senate, or may postpone or discharge any special order.

V.—CONDUCT OF BUSINESS—ORDER AND DECORUM.

53. The speaker shall preserve order and decorum; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the House. If the decision relates to a question of decorum or propriety of conduct, it shall not be debatable; if it relate to the propriety of business, or the relevancy or applicability of propositions, the appeal may be debated, but no member shall speak on it more than once, except by leave of the House.

54. When a member rises to speak he shall respectfully address, "Mr. Speaker," standing in his place; he shall confine himself strictly to the question before the House, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

55. When two or more members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak, but in all cases the member who shall first rise and address the chair shall speak first.

56. Every motion or proposition shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and shall be delivered in at the clerk's table to be there read; and the question shall be stated by the chair before the same shall be debated. When the reading of any paper in possession of the House, and not being the precise matter upon which the House is acting, is called for, and objection is made by any member, the question shall be determined by a vote of the House without debate. Any motion or proposition may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before a decision, amendment, or other action of the body upon it, except a motion to reconsider, which shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

57. No member shall in debate use any language or gesture calculated to wound, offend or insult another member.

58. If any member, in speaking, transgress the rules of the House, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member called to order shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain. If there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not proceed, except by leave of the House. For flagrant or repeated violations of order, especially if persisted in after the admonition of the speaker, a member shall be liable to the censure of the House.

59. If any member be called to order by another member for words spoken, the words excepted to shall be immediately taken down in writing, in order that the speaker and House may be better able to judge the matter.

60. No member shall, while the House is sitting, interrupt or hinder its business by standing up, leaving his place, moving about the hall, engaging in conversation, expressing approval or disapproval of any of the proceedings, or by any other conduct tending to disorder and confusion.

61. In any one debate upon the same question, no member shall speak more than once till all others have spoken who desire to do so, nor more than twice, without the consent of a majority of the members present.

ASCERTAINING THE QUESTION.

62. If the question for decision include several distinct propositions, any member may have the same divided; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be so divided; nor shall a motion to strike out, being lost, preclude either amendment or a motion to strike out and insert. In filling blanks, the question shall be put first upon the largest sum and the longest time. No motion or proposition, or subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

63. When a question is before the House, no motion shall be received unless specially provided for, except to adjourn, to pass by, to lay upon the table, to postpone for a specified time or purpose, to commit or amend, to dismiss; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. If the motion to pass by, or to lay upon the table, or to postpone, shall prevail, a motion to print shall be in order before proceeding to the consideration of another subject, but shall be decided without debate.

64. Upon the motion to pass by, the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reason for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object. The motion to lay upon the table, for the previous question, and for the pending question, shall not be debated; nor shall debate be allowed on a motion to take up a subject from the table, or to reconsider any question which was not debatable. When a question not debatable is before the House, all incidental questions arising, after it is stated to the House, shall be decided and settled, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate; and the same rule shall apply to incidental questions arising after any question is put to the House.

PENDING AND PREVIOUS QUESTIONS.

65. Pending a debate, any member who obtains the floor for that purpose only, and submits no other motion or remark, may move for the "previous question" or the "pending question," and in either case the motion shall be forthwith put to the House. Two-thirds of the members present shall be required to order the main question; but a majority may require an immediate vote upon the pending question, whatever it may be.

66. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question now be put?" If carried, its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if pending; then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. If upon the motion for the previous question, the main question be not ordered, debate may continue as if the motion had not been made.

TAKING THE VOTE.

67. The speaker shall rise to put the question, but may state it sitting. Questions shall be distinctly put in the following form, viz.: "As many as agree that, etc. (as the question may be), say Aye"; and after the affirmative vote is given, "Those opposed say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative of the question rising first from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. If required, the speaker shall cause the result to be ascertained by a count.

68. The yeas and nays on any question may be called for at any time before proceeding to another question or proposition, but being once refused, they shall not be again demanded on the same question; and any member shall have a right to vote at any time before the decision is announced by the chair.

69. Upon a division of the House on any question, a member who is present and fails to vote shall, on the demand of any member, be counted on the negative of the question; and when the yeas and nays are taken shall, in addition, be entered on the journal as present and not voting. But no member who has an immediate and special personal interest in the result of the question shall either vote or be counted upon it.

RECONSIDERATION.

70. When a question has been decided, it may be reconsidered on the motion of any member who voted with the prevailing side; provided, it be made on the same day or within the next two days of actual session. The motion may be entered as a matter of privilege, and shall take precedence of everything except special orders and other questions of privilege, and be disposed of in the morning hours or with the calendar, as the case may be. All motions to reconsider shall be decided by a majority of the votes of the members present.

BILLS, ETC.

71. Every bill shall be read at length on three different calendar days in the House previous to its being passed, and it shall be distinctly announced at each reading whether it is the first, second or third time.

72. The first reading of a bill shall be for information merely, and it shall go to second reading without a question.

73. Upon the second reading of a bill, it shall be open to amendment or commitment, or to any of the motions provided for in Rule 63, and the final question shall be "Whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time?"

74. A bill ordered to be engrossed shall not have its third reading until the engrossment is actually and properly done; but, in the case of a Senate bill, the engrossment shall only apply to such amendments as may have been made in the House.

75. No amendment to a House bill shall be received upon its third reading by way of rider or otherwise; and no amendment involving an additional appropriation shall be added to the general appropriation bill, unless to carry into effect an existing law, or unless it receives the vote required to pass the bill itself. But a bill may at any time before its passage be committed or recommitted, and when reported back shall be placed on the calendar, and if amended shall, whether on its second or third reading, be engrossed, as may be necessary.

76. On the third reading of a bill, the question shall be, "Shall the bill pass?"

77. The title of a bill, and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by the proposed amendments, shall be entered upon the journal.

WITHDRAWAL OF EXHIBITS.

78. Original papers filed as exhibits with any bill or petition may be withdrawn by the patron, or upon his order, on his leaving attested copies for which he shall pay the clerk at the rate provided by law for other copies made by him.

MESSAGES.

79. It shall be the duty of the clerk, without any special order therefor, to communicate to the Senate any action of the House upon business coming from the Senate, or upon matters requiring the concurrence of that body; but no such communication shall be made in relation to any action of the House while it remains open for consideration.

MANUAL AND RULES.

80. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the rules of the House, and such joint rules as are, or may from time to time be, established by the two houses of the General Assembly.

81. The rules of the House may be suspended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by an actual division of the House, except as prohibited by the Constitution; provided, that a motion to discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill shall require a majority of those voting, which shall include two-fifths of the members elected to the House, the vote thereon to be taken by yeas and nays, and recorded in the journal, and provided further, that a motion to dispense with the printing and reading of a bill, or either, shall not be entertained, except as provided by the Constitution. But a proposition to change a rule of the House shall be submitted in writing and forthwith printed. In its printed form it shall lie upon the speaker's table for five days and be read to the House during the morning hour of each day during that time. At the expiration of five days it shall be ready for consideration, and may be adopted or rejected by a majority vote of the members present; provided, that as to all resolutions or bills which involve an appropriation or expenditure of money by the Commonwealth, or which may create a charge upon the treasury, the rules of the House shall not be changed or suspended, save by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, to be ascertained by an actual division of the House. Upon a motion to suspend a rule of the House the mover shall be allowed two minutes to state the reasons for his motion, and one member opposed to the motion shall be allowed a like time to object.

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

82. During the session of the legislature the hall of the House of Delegates shall be used for no other purpose than the regular sessions of the House and for meetings of the committees and members of the legislature on public affairs.

83. Only members of the General Assembly, ex-members, members of Congress and Senate, State officers, judges, officers and employees of the General Assembly, members, officers and employees of the late Constitutional Convention, and such other persons as the speaker shall designate, shall be permitted on the floor of the House during the session thereof; provided, that the privileges granted hereunder shall not be exercised by any person having business for compensation before the House or any committee thereof, and the officers of this body shall enforce this rule under the direction of the speaker.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Requesting the Congress of the United States to enact national legislation to provide for government review and approval of moving picture film to be used in interstate commerce and showing to the public.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of South Dakota (the Senate concurring):

Whereas, there is a widespread agitation for a better supervision of moving pictures which are to be shown in places of public amusement; and,

Whereas, there is now no government regulation for review and approval of such film to be transported in interstate commerce and shown to the public; and,

Whereas, state review and legislation interferes with and makes a burden on the local exhibitor instead of correcting the subject at the source of production; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we petition the Congress of the United States to enact such remedial legislation as will require the producers of all moving pictures calculated to be offered for transportation in interstate commerce and showing to the public to be reviewed by a legal board under authority of Congress to the end that all such films may have legal approval for public showing uniformly in public places of amusement within the States and Territories of the United States and not be subject to individual, local or State restriction.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be instructed to send a copy of this memorial to each of the representatives from the State of South Dakota in the Congress of the United States and to the presiding officers of the House and Senate of the United States Congress, and to each legislative assembly now convened and in session in the various States of the United States.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Memorializing and inviting the legislative assemblies of the several States of the Union to co-operate in a thorough and practical investigation as to the cost of crop and live stock production.

Be it resolved by the Senate of the State of South Dakota (the House of Representatives concurring):

Whereas, the cost of production of farm products, including grain, live stock, poultry, dairy products, vegetables, fruits, hay, etc., ought to be a carefully considered factor in determining agricultural methods and plans; and,

Whereas, such costs, if known, would have a vital bearing upon the success and prosperity of the farmers of this State and of the Union; and,

Whereas, the determination of such costs of production, and normal observance of the conclusions drawn from such information, would result in a better balanced farm output, adjust farm land valuations on a basis of earning capacity, and bring about reasonable returns for money invested and labor performed; and,

Whereas, efforts heretofore put forth to ascertain such costs of production have been too largely theoretical and impractical; and,

Whereas, the Legislative Assembly of the State of South Dakota, now in regular session, contemplate adequate provision for a thorough and practical investigation as to such costs of production; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of South Dakota (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Legislative Assembly of the State of South Dakota hereby invites and requests the legislative assemblies of the several States of the Union, and particularly of our neighboring States and those other States principally engaged in and dependent upon agricultural pursuits, likewise to make adequate provisions for determining costs of production of farm products, and to co-operate with the State of South Dakota in securing information by use of which the business of farming and live stock raising may be placed upon a more known and exact foundation, and, so far as possible, the elements of chance and guesswork eliminated from farming methods, and also a basis determined upon which proper financial return may be intelligently and fairly estimated, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and is hereby directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to the legislative assemblies of the several States of the Union.

CARL GUNDERSON,

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 16, 1922.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

That a great American may be fittingly honored, a national committee of representative men and women has undertaken to establish the Woodrow Wilson Foundation through which public service will be encouraged and conspicuously recognized in this and future generations. A nation-wide appeal for popular subscriptions for this foundation is to be conducted this week, beginning today at noon.

It is eminently fitting that a memorial tribute of this character to Virginia's most distinguished living son should have the official endorsement of the General Assembly of Virginia. I urge, therefore, that the Woodrow Wilson Foundation campaign in Virginia be given official sanction and the commendation of the General Assembly, and that "Wilson Hour," from twelve noon to one o'clock today, be observed by your honorable body in an appropriate way.

The ideals of Woodrow Wilson, who has given his all for the cause of human freedom and the liberalization of government throughout the world, should be perpetuated in the interests of democracy, public welfare, liberal thought and peace and justice. His idealism was the nation's war inspiration—the inspiration of idealism that led America into the World War to war against war. It was the cause for which men gave up their lives, and for which he, the Commander-in-Chief, himself, sacrificed his health. The idealism of Woodrow Wilson is a deathless ideal, and a challenge to autocracy and oppression through all the ages of the future. Today, out of the chaos of world reconstruction, the vision of Woodrow Wilson emerges more clearly than ever as the real hope of the world.

Virginia should take the lead in the establishment of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, and should quickly and fully subscribe its quota of the fund. The endorsement of the General Assembly will insure and facilitate the accomplishment of this most worthy undertaking.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,

Governor.

MR. BROWN of Lynchburg offered the following resolution:

Whereas, the hour from 12 o'clock noon to 1 o'clock P. M. this day has been designated "Wilson Hour," and the people have been asked to make suitable and proper commemoration of the ideals of democracy and freedom as enunciated by the great war president; therefore,

Resolved, That the time between 12:30 and 1 o'clock P. M. this day be set aside and made a special order for addresses upon this important subject; which was agreed to.

MR. BREWER offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That the Clerk of the House of Delegates and Keeper of the Rolls be authorized to employ an expert typist for the enrollment of bills at this session of the General Assembly at the price of eight dollars per day, one-half to be paid by the House and one-half by the Senate, out of the contingent funds of the respective houses; which was agreed to.

Ordered that MR. HENLEY carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate by MR. MILLS, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the joint resolution.

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That there shall be appointed a joint committee, to consist of five members on the part of the Senate, including the president pro tem. of the Senate, and seven members on the part of the House of Delegates, which shall include THE SPEAKER of the House of Delegates, which shall make suitable arrangements as may be best for the reception and induction into their respective offices of the Governor-elect and Lieutenant Governor-elect of Virginia; which was agreed to.

Ordered that Mr. GRAHAM carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate by Mr. MAPP, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the joint resolution.

Mr. SMITHEY offered the following resolution:

Whereas, during recent years there have been fastened on the pay rolls of the State a number of offices, boards and commissions by no means essential to the real needs of the Commonwealth; and,

Whereas, the advocacy of the abolition of such useless offices, boards and commissions makes the patron of any bill for that purpose in the General Assembly unpopular with those who are alone enjoying the benefits of said offices; and,

Whereas, the members of the General Assembly should all share in unpopular as well as popular duties under their oath of office; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates of Virginia, That we go on record as favoring the abolition of every office of the State, the duties of which can be merged with some other office or distributed among the other departments, or which can safely be abolished; which was agreed to.

Mr. SMITHEY moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was agreed to; which was agreed to.

Mr. SMITHEY moved to amend by inserting in line 1, after "whereas" the words: "it has been charged"; which was agreed to.

The resolution as amended was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Governor:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 23, 1922.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

It gives me great pleasure to transmit to your honorable body a letter from the President of the United States, under date of January 9, 1922, with reference to the Washington and Victory Memorial Building, which is being erected at Washington. I bespeak for the request of the President in this connection your most careful consideration.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, January 9, 1922.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR DAVIS:

I am writing you to enlist your interest, with mine, in the Washington and Victory Memorial Building which is in course of erection in Washington. As you doubtless know, the structure is intended to be a worthy national memorial of the services of our armed forces in the World War, and also to represent a compliance with the wish of General Washington, that a great educational establishment should be provided here. These two purposes have been united in the plans for the Memorial Building, in whose erection it is aimed to have all the States participate. The great auditorium, designed as a meeting place for national and international gatherings, will have its ceiling studded with gold and blue stars; a blue star for every survivor who served in the war, a gold one for each who gave his life in the service; with the initials of every man marking his own star. Thus will be produced a true service flag of the nation, with its millions of stars; and that it may be given the character of a truly national memorial, it is wished that each State should provide for the stars for its own men, in addition to any other participation it may choose to assume.

To make this structure a true shrine of national patriotism, representing for our country the sentiments that Westminster Abbey and Saint Paul's Church attest to Englishmen and the Pantheon and the Invalides to Frenchmen—this is the ambition of the earnest men and women who are carrying forward the work of the George Washington Memorial Association. The association is incorporated by law of Congress; the national government provided the site for the structure; and recently its corner-stone was laid.

I have assurance that the city of Washington will give generous assistance toward erection of the memorial, and would be glad if each of the States will see fit to give the endorsement indicated by some official participation. The project has appealed strongly to me, and I know to patriotic men and women all over the land, as one of such inspiring nature as to deserve generous encouragement.

Very sincerely,

(Signed) WARREN G. HARDING.

HON. WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor of Virginia,

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

NATIONAL MARINE ENGINEERS' BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., January 24, 1922.

*To the Governor of the State of Virginia,
President of the Senate, and
Speaker of the House of Representatives.*

HONORABLE SIR:

During the forty-seventh annual convention of the National Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association of the United States of America, held at Washington, D. C., beginning on the date of January 16, 1922, the enclosed resolution emanating from members of our association in the port of Norfolk, was submitted to the convention.

This resolution was referred by the convention to the national executive committee of the National Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, for their consideration and disposition, which resulted in this office being instructed to communicate with you and advise that our organization heartily endorses the resolution and earnestly requests your co-operation in defeating the amendments to sections 3613, 3614 and 3615 of the Code of the State of Virginia, referred to in the accompanying petition.

Very truly yours,

NATIONAL MARINE ENGINEERS' BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION,
WILLIAM S. BROWN,
President.

RESOLUTION.

January 21, 1922.

*To the Governor of the State of Virginia,
President of the Senate,
Speaker of the House of Delegates.*

Whereas, a bill having been brought to our attention which has for its purpose to amend and re-enact sections 3613, 3614 and 3615 of the Code of the State of Virginia, which if enacted into a law will change the present system now in force for the training of branch pilots, and in accordance with the law of Virginia, the training and commissioning of State pilots; and,

Whereas, the members of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, all of whom are duly licensed by the Steamboat Inspection Service of the United States as officers of the merchant marine, and who are vitally interested in the building up of a merchant marine and the safe navigation of the same while entering or leaving the various ports of our country as well as upon the ocean, deplore the fact that certain people are trying to establish new methods by which branch pilots may be created by the legislation contemplated in this bill. The present law which governs the training, appointing and commissioning of men to act as branch pilots within the State of Virginia is an admirable one and commands our highest respect. Pilots who have been appointed from time to time in accordance with the present system of training have been most successful, which is convincing proof that the present law is far better than the one contemplated in the proposed bill; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of this organization, who are running on vessels in and out of the capes of Virginia, Hampton Roads, Newport News and the port of Norfolk, solemnly protest against any legislation that may destroy or cripple the present system of State pilots, because we believe this law would establish a system which would commission men to act as pilots who have not had the proper training or experience to enable them to do this work, as the training called for in the bill is not sufficient in our opinion to train a man as an efficient, competent and reliable branch pilot.

MR. PITTS presented the report of the Virginia Debt Commission.
Printed as House Document No. 10.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following:

Senate joint resolution memorializing the Interstate Commerce Commission in regard to a reduction in freight rates.

Whereas, the Interstate Commerce Commission is now holding in Washington a hearing on the question of reduction in freight rates, and has invited shippers and others interested in the matter to give testimony;

Whereas, carriers by railroad have been granted during the past three years an increase in freight rates of approximately eighty per cent;

Whereas, commodities that constitute a large part of the tonnage handled by carriers are selling for about pre-war prices, and many of these commodities cannot be transported to market on the present freight rate without loss to producer;

Whereas, markets, where shippers formerly found ready sale for their products, must be abandoned and business relations of long standing discontinued as a result of the percentage increase in freight rates;

Whereas, since water rates have been reduced to practically pre-war basis, many all-rail shippers must lose their business or be ruined in competing with those shippers who enjoy water rates;

Whereas, industrial plants are closed down or running part time, business is paralyzed, millions of men out of employment, tonnage handled by railroad carriers has fallen off, and nothing in sight to indicate an improvement in business conditions under present high freight rates;

Whereas, a pyramiding of freight rates is unavoidable in the natural course of commerce (a half dozen freight charges often being made on the same article between producer and consumer);

Whereas, this multiplicity of freight charges, of approximately eighty per cent more than they were prior to 1917, prevents such a reduction in living cost and rental charges, as the present price of agricultural products and building material, at point of production, would seem to warrant; railroads say wages must be reduced before rates can be cut; labor is reluctant to accept a reduction because it has not seen a material reduction in the cost of living and rental charges; the producer of raw material must sell his product at pre-war prices, and after the product has traveled the usual avenues of commerce, and the multiplicity of freight charges are added to the first cost, he must pay for it, as a manufactured article, at from fifty to one hundred per cent more than pre-war prices;

Whereas, we believe a substantial reduction in freight rates is necessary and will materially aid in bringing about normal business conditions; that it will result in a revival of business and consequent increased tonnage to the carriers, which increased tonnage will more than offset revenue from rate reduction; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Delegates concurring):

First: That the Interstate Commerce Commission be and hereby is memorialized and urged to order a substantial reduction in freight rates.

Second: That our senators and representatives in Washington be requested to favor the passage of such legislation as will enable the carriers to reduce expenses, so that employees may be warranted in accepting lower compensation by reason of less cost of living.

Third: That a certified copy of this preamble and these resolutions be transmitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission and to the members of the Senate and House of Representatives from Virginia; which was agreed to.

Ordered that Mr. JEFFREYS inform the Senate.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following:

Senate joint resolution memorializing the Congress of the United States for amendments to the act to regulate commerce and to the transportation act of 1920.

Whereas, the Interstate Commerce Commission has so construed the transportation act of 1920 (generally known as the Esch-Cummins act) as to cause it to make orders advancing freight rates and passenger fares applicable to intrastate transportation in disregard of State laws and the orders of State commissions; and,

Whereas, such construction of said act is in direct contravention of the understanding had at the public hearings on the Esch-Cummins bill, as repeatedly stated by its patron, Senator Cummins, who has consistently stated that the effect of said act was never intended to interfere with the jurisdiction of State Commissions over intrastate rates and fares, except to the extent already defined by the United States Supreme Court in the Shreveport cases; and,

Whereas, in certain recent cases the Interstate Commerce Commission has asserted that under said transportation act of 1920, it has the same authority over electric railroads that it has asserted in steam railroad cases, thereby abridging the constitutional regulatory powers of the States; and,

Whereas, it has been shown to be impracticable for the Interstate Commerce Commission to attempt to supervise the distribution of cars on an equitable basis as between individual shippers throughout the United States, and there should be some governmental authority within reasonable reach to which appeal can be made to provide such equitable distribution of cars; and,

Whereas, by the said transportation act of 1920 the Interstate Commerce Commission is given exclusive authority to authorize the total abandonment of lines of railroad, and has exercised this authority at long range with apparent lack of complete information as to the local conditions; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of Virginia (the House of Delegates concurring), That we urge upon our senators and representatives in Congress to so amend the existing legislation as to clearly define and limit the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission so that no intrastate rate or fare may be changed or set aside without proof by competent evidence, and upon findings of fact made, that the same injures a person or persons, or a locality or localities engaged in interstate commerce to such an extent as seriously to diminish the business of such person or persons, or seriously to retard growth and development of such locality or localities;

Resolved further, That our representatives in Congress are requested to advocate the incorporation in such amendatory legislation through the Capper or Nicholson bills, or in some other way, a declaration of the purpose of Congress to recognize the rights of the several States to exercise full and final jurisdiction over all rates for intrastate transportation which do not injure persons or localities engaged in interstate commerce in the manner aforesaid; and,

Resolved further, That said representatives in Congress be respectfully urged to advocate such legislation that the regulatory authorities of the States may make reasonable orders and regulations, not in conflict with Federal law or with lawful orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, requiring cars within the respective borders of such States to be equitably distributed to shippers desiring same; and,

Resolved further, That our representatives in Congress be respectfully urged to advocate an amendment under the law so that certificates of convenience and necessity granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission shall not purport to relieve the carriers obtaining the same from conforming to the laws of the States with respect to construction and operation within the States for intrastate transportation, or with respect to the abandonment of such transportation; and,

Ordered that Mr. JEFFREYS inform the Senate.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 26, 1922.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

On April 10, 1920, I suspended Mr. J. H. Wilkinson as a member of the board of directors of The Penitentiary. This action was taken by virtue of authority vested in me by section 336 of the Code of Virginia, this section providing that any member of the said board may be suspended by the Governor during the recess of the General Assembly, for certain things mentioned in the section, among them being "neglect of official duty."

Conditions existing at The Penitentiary at the time of the suspension aforesaid convinced me that a majority (three) of the members of the then board were neglectful of official duty; but instead of suspending all three, I suspended Mr. Wilkinson because his term was the first to expire, and did expire on March 1, 1921. Almost immediately after this action was taken, one of the remaining two members resigned his office, and within a short time thereafter the other member likewise resigned, so that no further action by me was necessary.

The conditions above referred to need not be set forth at length in this communication, as the facts are stated in the report of the board of directors of The Penitentiary for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1920, to which report reference is made.

It may perhaps be appropriate to add that since the suspension referred to, there has been planned and executed a program of prison reform which has attracted sympathetic interest and received favorable comment, not only throughout Virginia, but outside of the State as well.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 26, 1922.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I beg to inform your honorable body that I have this day accepted the resignation of Hon. Jesse F. West as judge of the third judicial circuit of Virginia, effective at twelve o'clock noon on January 31, 1922.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
RICHMOND, January 26, 1922.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of section 585 of the Code of Virginia (1919), there is laid before the General Assembly the report of the Art Commission for the period from January 27, 1920, to December 31, 1921, inclusive.

WESTMORELAND DAVIS,
Governor.

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
ART COMMISSION,
January 1, 1922.

ANNUAL REPORT.

*To His Excellency, WESTMORELAND DAVIS,

SIR:

According to section 5, chapter 4, Acts of 1916, we herewith present the annual report of the Art Commission to December 31, 1921. No report was made for 1920, and accordingly this report covers the entire period of active functioning of the commission from January 27, 1920.

By chapter 4, Acts of 1916, it is the duty of the commission to pass on the character and proposed location of any work of art before it becomes the property of the State by purchase, gift or otherwise. By chapter 271, Acts of 1920, it must also pass in advance on the design and proposed location of any new building on State property or paid for by State funds.

The commission has held nine meetings. It has passed on the acceptance by the State of thirteen proffered works of art or collections of such works, and of twelve buildings at nine State institutions, as follows:

WORKS OF ART, MONUMENTS, ETC.

Collections of paintings given by the Hon. John Barton Payne, to be deposited in the Battle Abbey.

Portrait of Chief Justice Marshall, by Henry Innman, bequeathed by Miss Emily Harvie, to be hung in the State Library.

Four Portraits: Col. William Byrd, III, and his wife; Col. John Page of Pagebrook and his wife, presented by Mrs. S. S. Wright, to hang in the State Library.

Case for War Flags, to be placed in the State Museum until the completion of the proposed Memorial Library.

Tablet to the Virginia Signers of the Declaration of Independence, designed by the architects Cram & Ferguson and presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution, to be placed in the Senate chamber in the Capitol at Richmond.

Bronze tablet to students of the University of Virginia who fell in the war, presented by the Classes 1918, 1919 and 1920, and by the Seven Society.

Painting: The Infant Christ and the Infant St. John, attributed to Rubens, presented to the University of Virginia by John Armstrong Chaloner, Esq.

Portrait of Dr. William Harry Heck, Curry Memorial Professor of Education, and a bronze tablet in memory of Dr. Heck, portrait painted by Mary Brewston Hazelton. Both presented to the University of Virginia by Mrs. Heck to be placed in the Heck Memorial Library.

Portrait of Dr. Francis Perry Dunnington, Professor of Analytical and Industrial Chemistry, painted by Leon A. Makielski, presented to the University of Virginia by former students.

Portrait of John Blackwell Cobb, Esq., donor of the Cobb Chemical Laboratory, presented by Eugene Speicher, to be hung in the Laboratory at the University of Virginia.

Portrait of John Hampden Pleasants, bequeathed to the Commonwealth by James Pleasants, to hang in the State Library.

BUILDINGS.

Women's dormitory, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg.

Receiving hospital, Catawba Sanatorium.

Teacher's pavilion, Catawba Sanatorium.

Archival building, State Library, Richmond.

Industrial building, Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute, Petersburg.

Dining-room, Catawba Sanatorium.

Infirmiry, Blue Ridge Sanatorium, Charlottesville.

Feed barn, Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute, Petersburg.

Central State Hospital, Petersburg.

Bakery, Eastern State Hospital, Williamsburg.

Convalescent Cottage, Piedmont Sanatorium, Burkeville.

Alumnae hall, State Normal School, Harrisonburg.

In the case of many of these buildings, the commission recommended revisions in the design or location which were made before its approval was granted. Unfortunately, in many cases designs were not submitted until they were already in the form of completed working drawings, and until it was desired to begin immediate construction. In the case of minor buildings at the institutions of a utilitarian character, the commission felt it should be lenient in accepting designs under these circumstances, even though they were by no means ideal, in order to permit prompt action. It is greatly to be desired that designs should be submitted at an earlier stage of the projects, so that it may be feasible to make constructive suggestions, without involving either increased expense or unfortunate delay.

PORTRAIT OF SENATOR THOMAS S. MARTIN.

In accordance with chapter 223, Acts of 1920, the Art Commission had painted a portrait of the late Senator Thomas S. Martin, to be hung in the hall of the House of Delegates. This was painted by the artist Charles Hoffbauer, and there was paid for it, with its frame, as provided by law, the sum of $1,500.00.

PAINTING OF THE GOVERNOR'S HOUSE.

At the time of repainting the Governor's house in 1920, the commission was asked to give its opinion as to the color which should be employed. The commission unanimously recommended: "That the present general color, gray, should be retained both as being consecrated by long tradition and as being in all probability the original color, with the suggestion, however, that in repainting the tone should be slightly warmer, that is, less bluish, and more on the order of the color of the Capitol.

ADVICE ON OTHER QUESTIONS OF ART.

In a number of instances the commission has, as a matter of courtesy, complied with the request of public officers, or citizens, for advice on questions of art upon which the law did not require it to act. It is happy to give such advice upon request, although it cannot, of course, undertake to prepare designs.

GENERAL PLANS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF STATE INSTITUTIONS.

The law requires the commission to give its approval to the location as well as to the design of new buildings at State institutions. In many cases it has been difficult to give this matter proper consideration, because block plans of these institutions do not exist, or were not submitted with the designs for proposed buildings.

In any case, however, it is undesirable to decide the location of a proposed building without consideration of the general future development of the institution. A few institutions, such as the University of Virginia, the College of William and Mary, the Virginia Normal and Industrial Institute at Petersburg, and the Virginia Truck Experiment Station, with possibly others, have had prepared with competent professional advice general plans for future buildings at the institutions, looking forward for many years. It is most strongly to be recommended that other institutions should do the same. Only thus can really wise and intelligent expenditure of State funds for buildings be secured.

The commission is very glad to give general advice, when requested, with regard to the preparation of such plans and to their character, but it naturally cannot, in its capacity as an unpaid commission, undertake the actual preparation of such plans.

Individual members have gratuitously, at much expenditure of time, paid visits in a number of instances to institutions which have requested such advice, and the funds of the commission sufficed to pay the traveling expenses of such visits, but obviously it is impossible to undertake such visits in every case when it might be desirable.

FINANCIAL.

The General Assembly of 1920 made an appropriation of $1,000.00 per year for the biennium 1920-1922 divided as follows: Clerical and stenographic service, $200.00; traveling expenses of members, $700.00; office supplies, $100.00.

In the fiscal year ending February 28, 1921, the expenses were as follows:

Clerical and stenographical service.....	$48 53
Traveling expenses of members.....	65 28
Communication .....	8 11
Office supplies .....	21 19
		$143 13

From March 1 to December 30, 1921, expenses were as follows:

Clerical and stenographical services.....	$64 53
Traveling expenses of members.....	45 84
Communication .....	5 56
Office supplies .....	6 75
		<hr/>
		122 68

Making the total expenses since the inception of the commission   $265 81

For the coming biennium the commission has recommended the same total appropriation of $1,000.00 per annum, as the small expense in the past has been due largely to the residence of three members in Richmond, involving no traveling expense, a condition which may not continue. Out of the total of $1,000.00 requested for 1922-23, $300.00 should be devoted to the purchase of a map and plan case absolutely needed to file accumulated blue prints and drawings.

Respectfully submitted,

FISKE KIMBALL,
Secretary.

MR. GORDON offered the following joint resolution:

Whereas, the Republican party by their opposition to the ratification of the League of Nations has kept the business interests of the country in a state of uncertainty and stagnation for some three years, resulting in the election of a Republican President; and,

Whereas, the President of the United States of America has called a conference of the nations to consider the great question of international disarmament as the surest way of securing the peace of the world; and,

Whereas, this conference has resulted in the negotiation of certain treaties, which while not all that could be desired, yet constitute a long step towards securing the peace of the world and the cultivation of friendly relations with all nations; and,

Whereas, this great subject should be treated from a patriotic and not from a partisan standpoint; be it, therefore,

Resolved by the House of Delegates of Virginia (the Senate concurring), That the Honorable Carter Glass and the Honorable Claude A. Swanson, United States Senators from the State of Virginia, be and they are hereby requested to vote and use their influence in favor of the ratification of said treaties, believing that they constitute the basis for future and more perfect agreement among the nations of the earth by which reason and justice and even generosity may be substituted for force and violence and that cruel and destructive war be finally banished from the universe.

MR. WILLIS offered the following resolution:

Whereas, in the last few days there has been unreasonable duplication of bills, each House passing the same bills and sending to the other identical legislation, thus entailing double work and unwarranted waste of legislative time; and

Whereas, the session is nearing its end and the time thus wasted can better be used in the passage of needed legislation; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That the members of both bodies be requested to discontinue the duplication of bills and to see to it that when one house has passed bills their duplicates be not passed in the other house, but rather that the bills more nearly complete be acted on; which was agreed to.

Ordered that MR. WILLIS carry the resolution to the Senate and request their concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate, by MR. CANNON, who informed the House that the Senate had agreed to the resolution.

THE SPEAKER made the following statement:

"My attention has been called to the following, which appeared in the Virginian-Pilot, of Norfolk, Virginia, in its issue of February 11, 1922:

"'COMMITTEE "PACKED," IS CHARGED OF PAGE.

"'Richmond, February 10.—"In my opinion, the committee on currency and commerce was 'packed' against the pilot bills."

"That was the statement made today by Ivor A. Page, delegate from Norfolk, in an interview following the adverse report on his bill by the House committee to which it was referred.

"Mr. Page said there was only one member of the committee friendly toward the pilotage measure and expressed the opinion that the committee was determined to kill any pilot bills before the evidence had been heard.

"This article is a direct reflection upon the honesty and integrity of the Speaker of this House and the gentlemen composing the Committee on Currency and Commerce. I state, without fear of contradiction, that there is no higher class gentlemen on the floor of this House than the gentlemen who compose the committee, and I refute with emphasis the statement that 'the committee was determined to kill any pilot bills before the evidence had been heard.' The simple mention of the names of the members composing this committee is a sufficient guarantee to this House of their integrity and honesty of purpose. The committee is as follows:

"Thos. W. Ozlin, of Lunenburg.

"Nelson Groome, of Elizabeth City.

"J. R. Horsley, of Appomattox.

"J. E. Wilkins, of Newport News.

"Alfred C. Smith, of Norfolk county.

"John W. Stuart, of Russell.

"D. H. Pitts, of Albemarle.

"Samuel L. Adams, of Halifax.

"W. F. Bagby, of King and Queen.

"M. P. Farrier, of Giles.

"J. K. McCotter, of Hopewell.

"Boyd Richards, of Winchester.

"John H. Stinson, of Buchanan.

"As to the statement that the committee was 'packed,' there is no foundation for such charge. I selected this committee of my own accord, and I state positively that no person either friendly or unfriendly to the pilots made any suggestion whatever to me as to its personnel. I have not attended a meeting of this committee, nor have I discussed the matters before it with any of its members. It is very unfortunate that the bias of any member should go to the extreme of giving out such interviews and prompting such publications.

"The Ledger-Dispatch of the same date contains a similar interview from the gentleman from Norfolk city, Mr. Page, and the gentleman from Princess Anne, Mr. Ewell.

"In this interview, the question is asked, 'Why should not pilotage bills go before the Committee on Chesapeake and Its Tributaries?' In answer to this question, the most uninformed knows that questions purely of commerce go to the committee on 'Commerce' while the Committee on Chesapeake and Its Tributaries considers questions of oysters, fish and matters pertaining to the bay and its tributaries.

"Mr. Ewell's criticism of the appointment of Hampton Roads Port Commission is as follows:

"'EWELL ATTACKS PORT COMMISSION.

" 'What bores me,' said Mr. Ewell, 'is the constant reminder of the praise accorded to the pilots by the commission that studied Hampton Roads. If the present committee on currency and commerce is hand picked, how about the commission, so far as the General Assembly is concerned? The pilots had no stauncher friend in the House at the session of 1920 than John Cherry, of Norfolk; Nelson Groome, of Hampton, and J. E. Wilkins, of Newport News. They represented the House on that committee, and they were picked by the same man or men who picked the currency and commerce committee. Two of the senatorial representatives were W. C. Corbitt, of Portsmouth, and W. L. Andrews, of Roanoke, who voted against the resolution to take up the Ewell bill out of its order and thereby blocked pilot legislation at the session of 1920. Even of the Governor's appointees there was one who had spoken in favor of the pilots at a previous legislative hearing. Yet we hear from the speaker's desk every day or so some resolution applauding the commission. It seems easy to fool the people.'

"Mr. Cherry was chairman of the Committee on Currency and Commerce at the 1920 session by the order of seniority, and was entitled to representation on the Port Commission. Mr. Groome was appointed because he was a prominent and influential citizen and represented an important territory contiguous to Hampton Roads, while Mr. Wilkins represented the city containing the largest shipbuilding plant on the Atlantic seaboard and the second coal loading piers in America. The President of the Senate appointed Senator Corbitt, who represented another large city adjacent to Hampton Roads, and the Governor named N. D. Maher, president of the Norfolk and Western Railway; Homer S. Ferguson, president of the shipbuilding plant at Newport News, and Lee Long, the president of the greatest coal corporation in the Southern States. It takes a courageous man to criticize the appointment and findings of such a commission.

"In conclusion, I hope I have said nothing that will wound the feelings of the gentlemen in question. Such has not been my purpose. I desire to throw around them the mantle of charity and to express the hope that their intemperate utterances were the result of their bias and not of their sober judgment and the further hope that their consciences may be as clear as that of the Speaker of this House."

MR. DEANS was called to the chair.

MR. C. R. WARREN of Pittsylvania offered the following resolution:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly of Virginia:

We, the undersigned executives of patriotic organizations, do most respectfully and most earnestly urge that any form of memorial to the soldiers, sailors and marines of Virginia in the world war shall embrace no other feature whatever—neither auditorium, library, nor office building. We are firmly of the opinion that any addition for any other purpose would fatally mar the memorial feature and that the Commonwealth of Virginia should erect, in such form as may seem best to the General Assembly, a memorial that shall stand distinctively and alone to the world forever, to her sons who gave themselves in the war for the freedom of mankind.

Whereas, through its Senator and Delegates, the city of Norfolk extended to the General Assembly of Virginia an earnest invitation to be its guest in the celebration of George Washington's birthday, 1922, and in so doing to enjoy the hospitality of its citizens, to visit the port of Hampton Roads, the army and navy bases, and the city and its many attractions; and,

Whereas, this Assembly accepted said invitation, and did in fact become the guest of the city of Norfolk; and,

Whereas, it is the firm belief of the General Assembly that no Assembly, either in Virginia or in any other State, has ever been so handsomely entertained, nor given such an opportunity to see and to know of the unequalled greatness and the immeasurable possibilities of the port of Hampton Roads and the city of Norfolk itself; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That we here and now express our profound appreciation of the great honor that has been bestowed upon us; of our feeling of the everlasting truth that Virginia possesses a harbor and city unequalled in utility and beauty in any other State or in any other nation.

And that we do now thank the city of Norfolk and its representatives for a day of pleasure and profit, the recollection of which will linger in our minds long after all other events connected with this session of the General Assembly have faded from our memories; which was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following joint resolution:

Whereas, reports from national headquarters in New York through Hon. E. Lee Trinkle, Governor of Virginia, Honorary State Chairman for Near East Relief; Oliver J. Sands, President of the American National Bank, and State Chairman for Near East Relief, and Claude W. Hopper, Secretary of the Near East Relief in Virginia, show that more than 110,000 children are being kept alive, that 229 orphanages manned by American personnel are being operated, 63 hospitals with 6,552 beds therein manned by American doctors and nurses, 128 clinics manned by American doctors and nurses, 11 rescue homes where girls and young women are cared for after being rescued from Turkish harems are maintained, and over 600,000 refugees are being fed daily; and

Whereas, any withdrawal of this support would endanger not only all of these lives, but would literally menace the cause of Christian civilization in those lands; and

Whereas, Armenia, the oldest Christian nation and smallest and weakest, but bravest and most martyred of our allies in the world war, faces extinction at the hand of the atrocious tyrant Turk; and

Whereas, he, the Turk has deported it as a nation, robbed it of its property and butchered millions of its innocent, and holds thousands of its girls and women captives in their harems doomed to live in slavery worse than death; and

Whereas, the remnant of this nation stands exhausted and crippled because it has faith in our supreme God; and

Whereas, the Near East Relief has proven by its record and particularly by the facts presented by its recent annual report to the United States Congress, by which it is chartered, that it is a thoroughly reliable, efficient organization; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Virginia, with the House of Delegates concurring, approve the efforts to save the lives of the orphan children of the Near East and to rehabilitate through them the nation;

That, we give to the Near East Relief our unqualified endorsement and co-operation;

That, we call upon the people in our respective districts and counties to give this cause their undivided attention at this time and respond to the appeals being made not only by physical effort but by sacrificial financial gifts;

That, we as individuals pledge ourselves to do everything in our power to help the State committee care for the 5,000 little children allotted this Commonwealth by the National Committee;

That, we call upon our Senators and Representatives in Washington to do everything in reason towards influencing National Congress to take a definite stand towards giving these people their liberty and right of pursuit of home and happiness, and

That, certified copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, Secretary of State, President of Senate, Speaker of House of Representatives, Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee, to each member of Virginia delegation in said houses and to the National and State Headquarters of Near East Relief; which was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House a joint resolution continuing the Legislative Committee on Tuberculosis, as follows:

Whereas, pursuant to a joint resolution of the General Assembly, agreed to February 25, 1920, a joint committee of five was appointed—two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House of Delegates—which committee was charged with the duty of investigating the laws of other jurisdictions relating to tuberculosis, and to report to the present session of the General Assembly a plan for the eradication of tuberculosis from this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, the said committee has made its report as directed by the joint resolution aforesaid; and

Whereas, it is expedient that the said committee be continued, in order that it may advise with the State board of health from time to time with reference to the tuberculosis work of the said board; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Delegates concurring), That the committee aforesaid, constituted as aforesaid, be continued until the commencement of the next regular session of the General Assembly, and that the said committee be authorized and requested to advise with the State Board of Health from time to time with reference to all activities of the said board relating to tuberculosis; which was agreed to.

The following were presented and referred under Rule 37:

THE SPEAKER laid before the House joint resolution relating to certain boundaries on the Potomac river front of the city of Alexandria, as follows:

Whereas, prior to the year 1910 there existed a cove or creek on the Virginia side of the Potomac river at Alexandria, known as "Battery Cove," and bounded on the east by a line drawn from a point of land formerly known as the north point of the Great Hunting Creek, and now known as Jones' Point at low water mark, to a point of land on said river formerly known as Point Lumley, and now known as the Old Pioneer Mill's site, and on the north, south and west by the abutting highlands on the Virginia side of the Potomac, the average depth of water in said cove being 1.5 feet, at mean low tide; and

Whereas, under the acts of Congress, passed June 25, 1910, and February 21, 1911, providing for the improvement of the Potomac river at Alexandria, Virginia, in accordance with the report submitted in House Document No. 1253, Sixtieth Congress, second session, the purpose of which improvement being the deepening of the harbor at Alexandria, by the removal of a sand bar in front of the wharves of the said city, the plans of improvement and surveys therefor, with House Document No. 1253, are hereto attached as an exhibit; and

Whereas, in the execution of the plan of said improvement, a revetment or retaining wall was built from Jones' Point at low water mark, to the south line of the property of the Marine Railway and Coal Company, Inc., and within a line drawn from said Jones' Point, at low water mark, to Point Lumley or Pioneer Mill's site, at low water mark, and the soil or dredgings from the river pumped into the space between said revetment or retaining wall and high water mark on the Virginia shore of the river, thereby making 46.57 acres of land above the high water line of the river front of said retaining wall or revetment; and

Whereas, on the completion of said fill, on or about January, 1912, the United States claimed title to the made land under the session of the State of Maryland, of territory for the seat of the Federal government, and inclosed same by a substantial fence, when the Marine Railway and Coal Company, Inc., destroyed the fence and entered upon such portion of the filled area as lay within the lines called for by its title and deeds for over 125 years prior to said improvement, which entry by said company resulted in the United States suing said company in ejectment in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, to recover the parcel of made land so entered upon by said company; and

Whereas, the Marine Railway and Coal Company, Inc., and other owners of the highland abutting on said cove, claimed title to such high land, and the said cove under a grant made by Sir William Berkeley, the Governor of the Colony of Virginia, issued in 1669 to one Robert Howsing, of six thousand acres on the Virginia side of the Potomac river, commencing nearly opposite Annaloston Island, and extending from thence to the north point of Great Hunting Creek, now known as Jones' Point, at Alexandria, Virginia, in which grant is included all the creeks and inlets within the lines thereof, to make said quantity of land, and that from the date of said grant, the owners of the abutting high lands have claimed title to the soil under the waters of said cove and exercised rights of ownership therein, and the State of Virginia has exercised territorial sovereignty and jurisdiction within the area of said cove, as being within the lines of said grant, and as included therein, during all the period of time between the date of said grant, and the date of the institution of said suit by the United States, above referred to, and without any assertion or claim of title, sovereignty or jurisdiction over the same by either the State of Maryland, or by the United States, or the District of Columbia; and

Whereas, by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, rendered on the        day of November, 1921, in said suit, it was held that said cove, and the made land therein, is within the territorial boundaries and jurisdiction of the District of Columbia, and is the property of the United States, under and by virtue of the cession of the State of Maryland to the United States, of territory for the seat of the Federal government; and

Whereas, the effect of said decision is to take from Virginia, and the city of Alexandria, the area of land contained in said Battery Cove, and to transfer it to the territorial boundaries and jurisdiction of the District of Columbia, and seriously to damage and hinder the present and ever increasing commercial and shipping interests of Alexandria, by cutting off the access of said city and its citizens, to twenty-five hundred feet of its river front. The said made land can have no practical value to the District of Columbia, because it is wholly separated by the Potomac river from all other high lands of said district, and is located on the west or Virginia side of said river, and firmly attached to Virginia soil, and so located geographically and in relation to the city of Alexandria, as to be absolutely necessary to the future of said city; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That the representatives of the State of Virginia, in the Senate and House of the Congress of the United States, urge the passage at the earliest practicable moment, of an act by Congress declaring said area of made land to be within the territorial sovereignty and jurisdiction of the State of Virginia, and to be the land and property of the owners of land abutting upon said cove or filled area, together with the right to them and their successors in title, to build and maintain bulkheads, wharves and piers extending from said retaining wall into the Potomac river in accordance with the plans set forth in House Document No. 1253 aforesaid, the said right to build wharves, bulkheads and piers, into the Potomac river to be subject, however, to the express condition that the same shall not interfere with the navigation of the Potomac river, and to all existing laws and regulations, and such future laws and regulations as Congress may from time to time prescribe for the protection and preservation of the navigation of said river; which was agreed to.

Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That the efforts of Admiral Wright and his comrades to provide a home for these old heroes, and to collect data and records for the publication of an official history of the Confederate navy be, and they are hereby, heartily endorsed, and commended to the consideration and support of the people of Virginia; which was agreed to.

THE SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication:

THE AMERICAN LEGION,
DEPARTMENT OF VIRGINIA,
DEPARTMENT HEADQUARTERS,
1030 MUTUAL BUILDING,
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

NORFOLK, VA., March 3, 1922.

To the Honorable House of Delegates,
Richmond, Va.

GENTLEMEN:

The American Legion of Virginia notes with regret that in order to provide increased pensions for the Confederate veterans the House of Delegates of the Virginia legislature has deemed it necessary, not only to fail to perform the moral pledge of the previous legislature to appropriate sufficient funds to carry on the memorial to the service of the Virginia veterans of the world war, but has also seen fit to deprive that memorial of the funds previously appropriated to it.

The Legion cannot believe that it was necessary for the State to destroy the war memorial in order to take proper care of its elder veterans. We regret being involuntarily placed in a position of opposing interest to that of our elder brother veterans and we feel sure that they likewise regret being put before the public as benefitting from the destruction of the expression of Virginia's gratitude for the services and sacrifices of her sons in the fiercest and most cruel conflict in the history of the world. Surely our State is not so poverty stricken that it cannot do justice to its veterans of one war without perpetrating an injustice to its veterans of another war.

But since the legislature has seen fit to place the veterans of the two wars in this embarrassing position, the American Legion of Virginia wishes it distinctly understood that it will never allow itself to be considered as in any manner obstructing or preventing the State from giving all possible aid to these grand old men who wore the gray and their dependents. Moreover, the American Legion regrets that there has not been some means found available for many years past which would have enabled the legislature to have provided proper aid for the Confederate veterans long ago, instead of waiting until now to increase the meagre stipend devoted to the relief of those who served during the struggle for Southern independence sixty years ago.

JUNIUS F. LYNCH,

Commander, Department of Virginia, The American Legion.
